Importance of Meditation by Brahma Kumaries

Meditation is the journey inwards, a journey of self-discovery or, in fact, re-discovery. Meditation is time taken for quiet reflection and silence, away from the hustle and bustle of daily living. Taking time out enables us to come back to a centred place of being. In our modern world, the pace of life is growing ever faster and we are losing touch with our true inner peace and power. When we no longer feel grounded, we can experience ourselves pushed and pulled in many different directions. It is at this point that we start to experience stress and a feeling of being trapped. Gradually, over time, this feeling leads to illness and disease, as our mental, emotional and physical health is thrown out of balance. They explained this with the following steps.

Step 1- Relaxation

Step 2- Concentration

Step 3- Contemplation

Step 4- Realisation

Step 5- Meditation

Report on sale of Green Ganesha held on 31st August, 2019

The greENERGY club organized the sale of Eco-friendly Ganesha as a part of Green Ganesha program. The event was organized on 31st August, 2019. 62 clay idols of Ganesha were sold. The Ganesha idols had seeds embedded within the idol. The Ganesha idols were available in two sizes of 12cms and 18cms respectively. Students offered customized painting for the idols with poster colors. The purpose of selling clay Ganesha with seeds embedded was to encourage immersion of Ganesha in bucket of water at their respective homes, followed by putting the clay in pots so that the seeds germinate. This was done to spread awareness to 'Save lakes'. Students and staff were encouraged to purchase the clay 'seed' Ganeshas which were given away in ecofriendly paper bags. The first idol was bought by the Principal, Prof. Y Ashok. The students and staff participated enthusiastically and made the event successful.

Health Camp-2019

The Medical and Health Committee of BVC in association with Department of Biochemistry organized a health camp for the staff and students of BVC on 30th and 31st of August, 2019. The health camp was in association with Vimta Labs, Hyderabad. The tests in this health camp included Master Health checkup, Complete Health checkup, Diabetic screening, complete blood picture, glycosylated hemoglobin, fasting blood glucose, lipid profile, thyroid profile, calcium, uric acid, vitamin D and B₁₂ levels. These parameters are useful in assessing and having a follow up with ones' general health condition. A total of 155 people that included teaching (33), non-teaching staff (14) and students (108) got their tests done.

The health camp received a very good response from staff and students indicating an emerging health awareness among them.

Hemoglobin status of girl students among various age groups in college

The Health camp organized on 30th and 31st of August by the Health Committee of BVC and Department of Biochemistry received a very good response from staff and students indicating health awareness among them. Apart from the teaching and non-teaching staff 108 students have got their thyroid and hemoglobin checked.

Interpretation of the data for hemoglobin among the girl students of the college revealed that,

- 71% of students who were tested were found to be non-anemic.
- 8 % of students are with mild anemia while 19% are moderately anemic.
- 2% of students are with severe anemia.

A diet plan should be followed by those who are anemic. There should be a healthful balance of iron-rich foods, such as leafy vegetables, nuts, seeds, and fortified breakfast cereals.

If left untreated, iron-deficiency anemia can cause serious health problems since having a low oxygen in the body can damage organs.

Report on sale of Green Ganesha held on 12th September 2018

The greENERGY club organized the sale of clay Ganesh as as a part of Green Ganesha program. 150 clay idols of Ganesha were sold. Each Ganesha idol had seeds of flowering plants. The Ganesha idols were available in two sizes of 9 and 13 inches respectively. Flexibility of getting customized painting done on the idols with water colors was also given as an option by the students. The idea of selling clay idols with seeds embedded was to encourage immersion of Ganesha in bucket of water at their respective homes, followed by putting the clay in pots so that the seeds germinate. This was taken up to spread awareness to save lakes. The event was organized on 12th of September 2018, on the eve of Ganesh Chaturthi. Students and staff were encouraged to purchase the clay 'seed' Ganeshas which were given away in ecofriendly paper bags. The first idol was bought by the Vice Chairman Air Commdr. JLN Sastry, VSM, BVB, followed by Prof. Y. Ashok, Principal of BVC. The event was very successful owing to the active and enthusiastic participation of the students and staff

Report on Report on Blood Donation Camp

The NSS and NCC unit of the college jointly organized a Blood Donation Camp in the college on Thursday , 27th September 2018. The volunteers had come at around 8 am and organized the set up for the camp. It began around 10 am and continued up to 3:30 pm with a steady stream of donors throughout.

The Vivek Bharathi stage became a platform for the donors. They were checkups going on and the potential and eligible people donated blood. There were enough places where the donors could lie down, set and recuperate for a while before they leave the venue. They were provided refreshments (glucose water, banana etc.) the NSS volunteers saved the donors with the refreshments and helped the ones who were feeling sick/ill.

They were 276(246donors+30 NSS volunteers)members participating in the camp with zeal and enthusiasm of serving the people. About 5 of the NSS volunteers AND 15 NCC cadets donated blood.

With all the efforts we could collect whole 246 units of blood which were carefully sealed and transported away, while the NSS and NCC volunteers cleaned up the area. Throughout the day there were smiles and laughter all round a true embodiment of what we believe in – Selfless service with a smile. The donors received the certificate of recognition. Hence the aim – blood for the thalassemia diseased children of the camp was successfully achieved.

Subject: Regional Children's Science Congress

Dear Sir,

The Navodhaya School at Gopanpally, Hyderabad is organizing the Regional Children's Science Congress between 14th and 18th November. The University of Hyderabad is hosting it. As a part of the program, we would like to organize an event where scientific principles will be demonstrated through simple experiemnts to children. This will provide hands-on experience of science in everyday life and enthuse children into thinking about scientific principlrs that operate around us.

A couple of years ago, students of your college had done a similar program for the AP Science Congress at the Univerisy of Hyderabad. This was done under the able guidance of Dr. Vidya Jonnalgadda and was a great success.

I would like to request you to support this event by conducting a similar event. The event is scheduled for the 18th of November , forenoon session. We will provide all the consumables that are required and all arrangements at the venue for operation. Transport and a certificate of appreciation will be provided for your support.

Thanking you in anticipation

Protocols for Hands-on Activities for Children's Science Congress

Activity 1: Quick Chromatography

1. Measure the circumference and height of the plastic glass or beaker that will be used as the chromatography chamber.
2. Pour solvent (plain water / some defined mixture of water:methanol or water:methanol:acetic acid) to a height of ~ 5mm in the chamber. Use a 1 mL syringe to measure the liquids.
3. Cover the chamber with a lid (plastic petri dish).
4. Cut a piece of filter paper to form a rectangle with width = 1 cm less than the circumference of the chamber and height = 1 cm less than the height of the chamber.
5. Draw a fine pencil line 1 cm from the width of the paper. This will be the bottom edge of your 'chromatogram'.
6. Make small but intense spots of color on the line using marker pen. Note the color of each dot using a code (e.g., R = red, Y = yellow; write everything with a pencil near the top edge of the paper).
7. Staple or pin together the height-edges of the paper to make a cylinder of paper.
8. Place the paper cylinder (with the color spots at the bottom) in the chamber. Make sure the paper is not touching the walls of the chamber and the spots are not be submerged in the liquid.
9. Wait till the liquid rises over the paper to almost the top. Take out the paper, take out the pins/staples. Allow to dry.
10. Note the distance traveled by solution and distance traveled by the colored spots.

Measure circumference and width of chamber

Cut the rectangle of paper. Make spots with color pens

Pour some liquid into chamber. Cover with lid.

Roll paper into cylinder. Place in chamber.

Activity 2: Activity of salivary amylase

1. Take a 1% starch solution (Dissolve 1 g starch in 100 mL hot water). The % of starch is not very critical – a little more or less is quite OK.
2. Using a 1 mL syringe, make 10 well-spaced drops of 0.1 mL of iodine solution on a white tile or a set of glass slides.
3. To the first drop add 0.1 mL of starch solution; it should turn blue-black (this shows your solutions are 'working' as expected).
4. Mark the level of 0.5 mL in a test tube (use a clean 1 mL syringe and water). Collect saliva to this mark (now you have 0.5 mL of saliva).
5. Add 4.5 mL of water or a solution of dilute citric acid or lime (choona). Mix well. This is your enzyme stock.
6. In a plastic cup, mix 1 mL of enzyme with 1 mL of starch solution; this is your reaction mixture. Note the time.
7. Every 30 sec., mix 0.1 mL of reaction mixture with a drop of iodine solution on the tile, Mix with a clean (freshly washed) toothpick. Note the time it takes for the starch to be digested (no blue-black color produced when mixed with iodine).

Activity 3: Calculate your BMI

Measure:

1. Your height in cm
2. Your weight in kg
3. Circumference of your upper mid-arm (UMAC) in cm.

Draw:

1. Histogram of height.
2. Histogram of weight.
3. Histogram of UMAC.
4. Scatter plot of weight vs height; use different colors for boys and girls.
5. Scatter plot of height vs UMAC; use different colors for boys and girls.
6. Histogram of BMI; Box and Whiskers plot of BMI of boys and girls.

To draw histogram:

1. Note the lowest and highest reading for the property to be plotted.
2. Subtract former from latter to get 'range'.
3. Divide range into 5 equal parts, or 'class intervals'. You can round off to nearest integer to get equal-sized 'classes'.
4. Note the number of persons in each class interval, or 'frequency'.
5. Mark class intervals on X-axis. Construct rectangles with height proportional to 'frequency'.

To draw scatter plot:

1. Note the lowest and highest reading for both properties to be plotted.
2. Label the X- and Y- axes using a suitable scale.
3. For each reading, make one dot (with appropriate values corresponding to the X- and Y- axes).

To calculate BMI:

$$BMI = \frac{\text{Body mass (kg)}}{\text{Square of height (m}^2\text{)}}$$

To draw box and whisker plot:

1. Arrange the reading in an ascending order.
2. Locate the mid-value or 'median'; this value divides the data set into two sets with equal number of readings (50% of readings are below the median value and 50% of the readings are above the median value). The median is also called the Q2 (second quartile).
3. For each of the two sub-sets, locate the mid-values. The mid-value of the first set (with values lower than median) is called Q1 (first quartile). The mid-value of the second set (with values higher than median) is called Q3 (third quartile).
4. Note the minimum and maximum values.
5. Draw the box of the box plot with ends at Q1 and Q3. Draw a line across the box at Q2. From the mid-points of edges of the box, draw whiskers to mark the minimum and maximum values.

Protocols for Hands-on Activities for Children's Science Congress

Activity 4: Measure your Resting and Elevated Pulse

1. Measure your resting pulse for 3 consecutive 30 sec. periods.
2. Run or jog or jump for 30 sec., or 60 sec., or 90 sec. (note the time).
3. Measure your pulse for consecutive 30 sec. periods until it returns to resting rate (for at least 60 sec.).
4. Plot your reading (time on X-axis; pulse rate on Y-axis; you can convert to % of starting rate).
5. Compare your readings with at least 4 other persons and answer the following questions:
 - a. What is the average resting pulse rate?
 - b. Does pulse rate increase with activity?
 - c. Does type of activity (running versus jogging versus jumping) affect pulse rate?
 - d. Does increase in pulse rate depend on how long you were active?
 - e. Does the time taken for pulse rate to return to normal depend on how much higher it was at starting point?

Activity 6: Quick Titration

1. Measure 0.5 mL or 1 mL of base solution into the plastic cup (use a clean 1 mL syringe).
2. Add a drop of indicator phenolphthalein to the base; it should turn deep pink.
3. Fill a clean 1 mL syringe with acid solution.
4. Add the acid drop-wise to the base solution. Mix the solution in the cup by gentle swirling. Keep adding acid just until the pink color disappears. Note the amount of acid required to neutralize the base (in case more than 1 mL is required, refill the syringe with acid).
5. Repeat the titration by switching the solutions: take acid in the plastic cup and add indicator (solution will remain colorless), and titrate with base taken in syringe (note the amount of base required for solution to just turn pink).

Calculations: strength x volume of acid = strength x volume of base

If strength of acid = 1N; strength of base =

- solution on a white tile or a set of glass slides.
- To the first drop add 0.1 mL of starch solution; it should turn blue-black (this shows your solutions are 'working' as expected).
 - Mark the level of 0.5 mL in a test tube (use a clean 1 mL syringe and water). Collect saliva to this mark (now you have 0.5 mL of saliva).
 - Add 4.5 mL of water or a solution of dilute citric acid or lime (choona). Mix well. This is your enzyme stock.
 - In a plastic cup, mix 1 mL of enzyme with 1 mL of starch solution; this is your reaction mixture. Note the time.
 - Every 30 sec., mix 0.1 mL of reaction mixture with a drop of iodine solution on the tile. Mix with a clean (freshly washed) toothpick. Note the time it takes for the starch to be digested (no blue-black color produced when mixed with iodine).

Activity 8: pH of common substances

1. Make a solution / juice / soft paste of the substance.
2. Place small drop of it on a slide or any other clean surface. Soak it using a piece of pH paper and note change of color.
3. Note the pH based on color scale.
4. Display your results as a graphic.

Activity 2: Activity of salivary amylase

1. Take a 1% starch solution (Dissolve 1 g starch in 100 mL hot water). The % of starch is not very critical – a little more or less is quite OK.
2. Using a 1 mL syringe, make 10 well-spaced drops of 0.1 mL of iodine

Activity 10: Mass and weight

1. Use a spring balance to measure the weight of a small, water-proof article in air (or place in plastic bag before weighing).
2. Measure the weight of the same object after complete immersion in water.

Challenge:

Explain the relationship between mass and weight.

Abhyas Report:

The shared Happiness....

Happiness doubles when we share it with someone. We the members of Abhyas club experienced this 'Understatement' when we celebrated the festival of Lights and happiness with our beloved brothers and sisters at the 'Grace Orphanage'. We call it as an understatement as we experienced the happiness multiplying limitlessly to see the smiling faces of the kids when we distributed chocolates and new clothing as Diwali gifts. The kids and the members of Abhyas together performed dandiya and enjoyed the day.

Report on sale of Green Ganesha held on 24th August 2017

The greENERGY club organized the sale of clay Ganeshas as a part of Green Ganesha program. The highlight of the program was that the clay Ganesha idols had seeds embedded inside. The idea was to encourage immersion of Ganesha in bucket followed by putting the clay in pots so that the seeds germinate. This was taken up to spread awareness to save lakes. The event was organized on 24th of August 2017, on the eve of Ganesh Chaturthi.

Students and staff were encouraged to purchase the clay 'seed' Ganeshas which were given away in ecofriendly paper bags. About 80 clay Ganeshas were sold. The first idol was bought by the Principal of BVC. The event was very successful owing to the active and enthusiastic participation of the students and staff.
